Reveille

1940

PUBLISHED BY THE SENIOR CLASSES OF
THE HIGH SCHOOL OF COMMERCE
DETROIT, MICHIGAN

FOREWORD

The editors of the 1940 Reveille have tried to interest and entertain you and to furnish the link in the chain of memories that will part the clouds of years and serve as a constant reminder of the happy days spent at the

HIGH SCHOOL OF COMMERCE

DEDICATIONS

MR. ELTON CLARK

To Mr. Elton Clark, our sports adviser of the past three years, in appreciation of and gratitude for his friendly guidance and assistance, we, the 1940 graduating classes of East Commerce, dedicate this year's Reveille.

Elton H. Clark

MRS. LYDIA SUTTON

Because she typifies for us the ideal business woman — charming, efficient, up-to-date — because she has understood us and inspired us to greater effort, we, the members of the Commerce senior classes, take much pleasure in dedicating the 1940 Reveille to Mrs. Lydia Sutton.

Last Will and Testament

We, the graduating classes of January and June 1940, of East Commerce High School, in the City of Detroit, County of Wayne, and State of Michigan, being alert, mentally and physicially, hereby publish this, our last will and testament.

We leave to the future seniors some outstanding teachers, such as, Miss Cash, Mr. Wiemer, and Miss Gay to promote the year book.

We, also, leave Mr. Meier, a very popular teacher who is distinguished by his bow ties.

The following personal bequests are also made:

I. Frank D. Rembacz, will to some executively-minded junior, the position of president.

I, June Trancked, leave my jitterbuggin' to Nadine Blake.

I, Robert Hoskings, leave my ability to play basketball to Ed Augustine.

I, Marge Hennecke, bequeath my knowledge of history to anyone who can afford to fail.

I,Donoval Sakofske, leave my singing ability to Walter Strozeski.

I, Marjorie MacRoberts, leave with Irmgard Reile my flirting ways.

I, Dorothy Thorpe, leave my technique in dodging the truant officer to Irene Margreta.

I, Frances Trombly, bequeath my yen for telling stories to Marvella Miller.

I, Clifford Biggs, leave with Evelyn Cantwell.

I, Pauline Huyghe, leave my winning ways to Alice Cornet.

I, Beverly Ulick, leave my sun-tan to a junior that can spread it on smooth.

I, Owen Kelpin, leave my typewriter to Isabelle Foucher.

I, Flora Di Donato, will my hair-do to anyone who can find the part.

I, Mary Broderick, leave!

I, Harold Alport, bequeath my shyness to a future bachelor.

I, William Byrne, leave my fine, low-cultured voice to John Cortez.

I, Alice Phillips, leave my debating ability to some deserving, timid soul.

I, Tom Finn, leave my line to the junior who gets hooked.

I, Dorothy Gray, will my poems to juniors tired of Shakespeare.

I, Arthur Kruszewski, leave my wavy hair to anyone who can get a permanent.

I, Campbell Wilkie, leave Ann Ciborowski to her books.

I, Matthew Linton, bequeath eight inches of my height to Dorothy Kurrie.

I, Florence Recknagle, leave, taking with me pleasant memories.

Class Attorney

Dear Diary

October 16—
Today was tag day. I bought two tags and they're both covered with signatures. Guess I said hello to about everybody in school. It was fun.

October 20—
Just back from the Audit dance at East Commerce. It was a long trip but a swell dance. East Commerce fellows are O.K. by me!

November 9—
Wish I were a journalist. Carl and Alex were all smiles as they started off for the N.S.P.A. convention at Chicago. What a trip!

November 12—
Joined a new club today—the Personality Club. Wonder what it will do to my personality.

December 8—
This afternoon the seniors gave their play, "Girl Shy." More than ten cents worth of laughs all right. Good acting, too.

January 5—
Missed the Alumni Game and Dance because of a sprained ankle. Rotten luck! Dot and Bill say it was the best ever—good game, good music, good everything. I'll be there next year, don't worry.

January 25—
Commerce's "President's Ball" was this afternoon. Marge Earnshaw was chosen queen. I hadn't realized what a lot of pretty girls there are at Commerce this year.

January 26—
This semester is nearly over. When I think of exams I'm scared. Maybe I'd better study. Ho-hum.

February 22—
Saw the movie, "Know Your Money," today and learned a little about how to detect a counterfeit bill. Wouldn't it be fun to detect some. Wish we had more movies like that.

March 12—
The big day finally arrived—the day of the Commerce-East Commerce game and dance that we've all been looking forward to. Our Auditors won, but the East team had us on our toes during the last few minutes. The dance—well, everyone had a swell time. The presidents of the various clubs received flowers. We had our own hit parade and everyone trucked to its delightful tunes.

March 17—
Election day for the seniors. Carl Williams was elected.

March 20—
A big crowd assembled in 361 this afternoon to hear the speech contests. I was more nervous than the contestants. Bill Miller and Edna Gracey must be pretty proud of their medals.

April 11—
Had my senior picture taken today. What a thrill! Hope I looked my best. It was fun going over to Cass. Some of the stairways were blocked because of wall-cleaning which made the trip a little longer, but we didn't mind. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if some of the girls met a boy friend over there.

April 12—
Group pictures for the Reveille were taken today. I'm in three. They'd better be good.

April 25—
Senior mock election today. I think the class as a whole did a pretty good job of attaching the right titles to the right persons. Only one thing wrong—there just weren't enough boys to attach the titles to.

May 6—
The Shorthand Scribes visited the Bell Telephone Company this afternoon. We went through all the different departments and were shown how the system works. Wonder if I'd like to be a telephone girl.

May 18—
Thirty-six of us went through Greenfield Village today. Such a lot of walking, but such a lot of fun. The bus driver seemed to be having as much fun as any of us. I guess Jean, Dolores, and Bernadine will agree he can find lost articles.

May 20—
Five weeks left. So much to look forward to—the all-club picnic, the boat trip, the prom—then graduation. I'm so happy, but sad, too. I hate to think of leaving. Wonder if anybody will hire me.

Commerce Limericks

There was a class snooper of note
Who'd never retract what he wrote.
He thought he was wise,
But he slammed the wrong guys;
"His snoopings are over—unquote.

LLOYD JOHNSON.

A student of Commerce, Marie,
Felt sure that in order to be
A typist or clerk
It took little work.
But now she's found out differently.

IRENE ERKKILA.

There is a young lady named Mary
Who wears a green hat with a cherry.
Oh, Mary Knox,
Put it back in the box;
Hide that horrible thing and don't tarry.

HELEN STACEY.

I know a teacher named Weimer
Who in bookkeeping is an old-timer;
By hook or by crook
He won't follow the book
But he uses a method much finer.

VIRGINIA WIESZKOWIAK.

There was a young teacher named Ross;
You could tell he was always the boss.
He wore his moustache
With a romantic dash
But for heaven's sake, don't make him cross.

LILLIAN PARKINS.

To Commerce there once came a lad
Who was always unfriendly and sad.
The clubs he attended,
His ways were amended.
He became very friendly and glad.

MARY MCINTOSH.
